VALVES, FITTINGS AND PIPING

Plumbing and Heating Equipment for every industry and every home from ONE COMPLETE LINE CRANE

Here's a grand rule of thumb to follow: if it's anything in piping, plumbing or heating equipment, count on CRANE.

An unequalled selection of VALVES AND FITTINGS is offered for your selection in the complete Crane line—for every power, process or general service need. Crane brass, iron, steel and alloy piping materials are recognized for durable and dependable performance. Crane Quality means long service life . . . less maintenance . . . low ultimate cost.

In PLUMBING FIXTURES, as with valves and fittings, the name CRANE is synonymous with finest quality—in beauty of design, durability and convenience features. Bathtubs and lavatories, toilets and urinals, kitchen sinks and laundry tubs . . . all are available in a wide choice of styles, materials and prices. Many of these fixtures are available in eight attractive colours as well as white.

In HEATING, too, you can depend on Crane to meet the specific need—a hot water or steam boiler of the right type and capacity—hot water heaters—standard or concealed radiators, or radiant baseboard panels.

Whether it be for home or apartment, for school, church or store, there is a Crane installation to assure dependable heating service.

Descriptive literature on any phase of Crane Service gladly supplied. Ask any Plumbing and Heating Contractor or Crane Branch—or write direct to Crane Limited, 1170 Beaver Hall Square, Montreal.

ASSOCIATION NEWS

By FRANK STANNARD
(Acting President)

Well, here I am once again, filling in for the President.

You know, it is said that an open mind is the gateway to knowledge — but I often feel, too, that it is a prerequisite to a satisfied and contented life. It makes for tolerance and sympathy and leads to a fullness and knowledge that can only be achieved by acceptance of all things, even those which are outside or sometimes contrary to our usual way or accustomed mode of life.

Among the most firmly fixed of our ways of life is that of religion. Somehow, we are born into religion. It is taught to us while young and impressed upon us while we are yet impressionable. It becomes accepted as a guide and strength upon which we lean.

Then suddenly we are sixteen. We "graduate" from high school and move on into the fuller and more varied surroundings of college. There comes a realization that there are many religions — not just one; many gods — not just one. A little knowledge becomes dangerous and disillusionment follows. It usually takes years and often more than a college education to put a man or a woman on the right track again. Then, if that man or woman grows up, comes the Open Mind — and with it the realization that there can be more than one god. But only one needs to be important to him.

Which is rather a long preamble to introducing my wish to our Jewish friends for a Happy New Year on the occasion of their observance of Rosh Hashanah. It seems to me that the Hebrew calendar shows much greater practicality than the Christian calendar. Because for some reason it has become natural to accept this time of year as the beginning of most forms of human activity in our present rush around world. This is when school starts. And this is when most of the social activity starts — Alumni doings, men's clubs, drama groups. Which all makes sense to the observance of a new year at this time.

Obviously, we must accept the inevitable (and the practical) and look forward with all our friends to a

HAPPY NEW YEAR

"A landscape whose wide border lies
In silent shade 'neath silent skies;
A wondrous fountain yet unsealed;
A casket with its gifts concealed —
This is the Year that for you waits
Beyond to-morrow's mystic gates."

Correspondence

Sir:

May I, through the medium of The Postgrad, express my thanks for the very handsome gift — cigarette box which you presented to me on Sept. 12th. I appreciate especially the magnificent work done on the engraving of the crest and inscription; and I can assure you that it will have a place of honor in my new home, and will be a constant reminder of my long association with graduates of Sir George Williams College since the guinea-pig class received their degrees.

It is strange how quite unexpected things happen; I personally had no interest in teaching until, quite by chance, I happened during the first World War to be appointed to a lecturing position at Cambridge University. I so enjoyed this experience that I entered education on my return to Canada and then one day the first War intruded itself once again on my academic year.

In 1933 I paid a visit to Sir Arthur Currie who was then Principal of McGill University and whom I had known overseas, and in the course of conversation he asked me why I had not gone to see Dr. Owen Stredder. Perhaps it was rather natural at that time that I should say "who is Dr. Stredder". He informed me that he was a dynamic educationalist who was in the process of building a new College called Sir George Williams College, and that I could find his office on the 3rd floor of the 3rd floor of the Central Y.M.C.A.

In 15 minutes I had found what I never expected to find, an opportunity to grow with and help build a young and progressive educational institution. To talk with Dr. Stredder was an inspiration.

The rapid growth of the College under the principalship of Dr. Norris was a wonderful and valuable experience; and the growth of the College not only in numbers but in reputation and prestige has been an ample reward for the work it has entailed.

The new building is a monument to the growth of the College, but as we know only so well it is only by the achievement and support of the Alumni that it can really progress and enhance its reputation. We on the staff, delight to see our graduates progressing to important and responsible positions in the community, as some of our Alumni have already done, and as I hope many more will in the future.

Both Mrs. Thompson and I were very happy to have had the opportunity of meeting so many old friends at the reception, and we hope that it will not be too long before we are able to renew acquaintances again.

Yours sincerely,

C. W. THOMPSON.

Alumni Donates Reading Accelerator To Guidance Office

For the past six years Sir George Williams College has offered an eight week course in developing reading skills to students in the Day and Evening Divisions. While this course may not be used for credit towards a degree, it has nevertheless proved very popular to those who are slow readers.

Some of the original equipment used was donated by the Kiwanis Club of Montreal, who gave the College the Tachistoscope, an instrument useful in developing the reader's skills. However, the need has always existed for a Reading Accelerator, an instrument which is of great assistance in obtaining even greater increases in speed and comprehension.

The Reading Accelerator is a simple pacing device that helps increase reading rate, concentration and comprehension. It does so by enabling the reader to pace his reading — first at his normal rate, then at generally increased rates over a period of time. The Accelerator prevents the students from glancing back at previous lines, challenging him to keep ahead. This widely used training device motivates students to do more reading, more effectively. The Accelerator covers a speed range from less than 30 words per minute to more than 3,000 words per minute.

Some of the many universities which have installed this instrument to help students better their reading skills are Purdue University, New York University, Penn State, Michigan State, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Texas and many others as well as many high school and elementary school systems. It is felt that with this donation from the Alumni Association, the Effective Reading Course given by the College will rank with the best obtainable anywhere in Canada.

ALUMNI HONORS DR. NORRIS

In Salon D of the Mount Royal Hotel some forty alumni gathered on Friday, June 8th to honor Dr. Kenneth Norris prior to his relinquishing the post of Principal of Sir George Williams College. Frank Stannard led the toast to the future happiness and well-being of Dr. and Mrs. Norris.

Len Rosenberg, former president of the Association of Alumni, presented Dr. Norris with an "innocent-looking" wallet in which had been placed some Canada Savings Bonds.

Dr. Norris, in a short address, stated that his dissociation from Sir George Williams, a college noted for its friendliness, was a difficult and unwelcome realization to have to attain. 'Nevertheless,' said Dr. Norris, "I am happy that the Board of Governors decided to install Dean Hall as principal. His long acquaintance with the college's activities, his understanding of the students' requirements will help him to maintain and increase that friendliness which has been characteristic of Sir George."

Dr. Henry Hall (formerly 'Dean') then noted how difficult his task would be to maintain Dr. Norris' standards of work and announced that the Board of Governors had realized this and had conferred on Dr. Norris the title of Principal Emeritus. This title is to appear in the announcements of the college.

Before breaking up, the graduates exchanged greetings and news with old friends.

BOB HAYES' BEREAVED

The Executive of the Association of Alumni and The Postgrad extend sincere condolences to Bob Hayes, former editor of "The Postgrad" and Patter columnist, on the recent loss of his mother.

FAREWELL RECEPTION FOR PROF. THOMPSON

A large turnout of graduates and Faculty members, together with relatives and friends, attended an Alumni reception for Prof. (and Assistant Dean) Thompson upon the occasion of his retirement from Sir George Williams College.

This affair was held on Wednesday evening, September 12th, 1956 in the Ward Room of H.M.C.S. "Donnacona" on Mountain Street, not far from the College.

First vice-president Frank Stannard introduced the guest of honour, gave a brief outline of Prof. Thompson's academic contributions to the college, and read some telegrams received from out-of-town grads. He also conveyed the best wishes of all grads for the future of the popular professor and his charming wife, who were getting ready to move to sunny Florida.

Next on the informal program was a presentation of a suitably engraved cigarette box as a parting gift from the Association of Alumni.

Prof. Thompson responded by thanking the grads for their good wishes and for the gift, which he and his wife appreciated very much. He said he would always carry with him fond memories of the college and its graduates, and would welcome any grad who travelled down Florida way. He said he hoped he could keep in touch with the Alumni Association, and it was suggested that this could be done through the pages of the "Postgrad".

Among those who merited thanks for the success of this affair were Vic Yates, who arranged for the use of the room; Gerry Miller, the Social Chairman, who acted as host and helped to serve the delicious hors d'oeuvres; Frank Stannard, who acted as chairman; the C.O. of H.M.C.S. "Donnacona", who graciously consented to allow the Association the use of the premises; the staff of the Ward Room, whose service was very courteous; Dr. Hall, the newly-appointed Principal, and his lovely wife, who honoured the group with their presence; and finally, all the grads who turned up to bid "Farewell and God-speed" to an old friend.

GEORGIANNALS

THE PRINCIPAL'S PAGE

As another academic year gets under way, we say good-bye to another of the College's pioneers and builders in the person of Professor C. W. Thompson, who retires after twenty-three years' service to the College. He takes with him many souvenirs of alumni, students and faculty, but above all, the goodwill and commendation of all Georgians.

The registration for the academic year has been almost phenomenal, crowding many departments and classes to the limit. Many people are inclined to say with dismay that the new building is already too small. The answer to this is, of course, that the new building was not designed so much to increase the College's capacity as to improve its material equipment, and this it certainly has done. Incidentally, its total capacity has been considerably enlarged as well.

It was a pleasure to meet so many friends at the reception given by the Association of Alumni to Professor and Mrs. Thompson. One of my regrets is that I do not have more opportunity to meet alumni.

One of the most important principles of education, in my opinion, is the fact that all the experiences of life can be educative. I have often told graduating classes that the critical period in their education is that immediately following their graduation from College. It is pleasing to note that so many of our Alumni have continued their education. However, this does not necessarily mean graduate or professional study. I feel that it is important to use all of life as a continuous educational process. How this may best be done is a very personal matter, for another important educational principle is that we are all different, and, fundamentally, each must work at the job of directing and furthering his own development.

HENRY F. HALL,
Principal

Professor Clarke New Vice-Principal

Professor Douglass Burns Clarke, one of the first graduates from Sir George Williams College and registrar since 1943, has been named vice-principal and registrar, Dr. Henry F. Hall, principal announced on September 26th.

The appointment of Robert C. Rae, of Toronto, as dean of the college was also approved by the board of governors. Associate Professor Donald L. Peets has been named assistant dean and Professor Claude W. Thompson, present assistant dean, who retires shortly after 23 years on the faculty of the college, has been named professor emeritus.

All appointments become effective October 1.

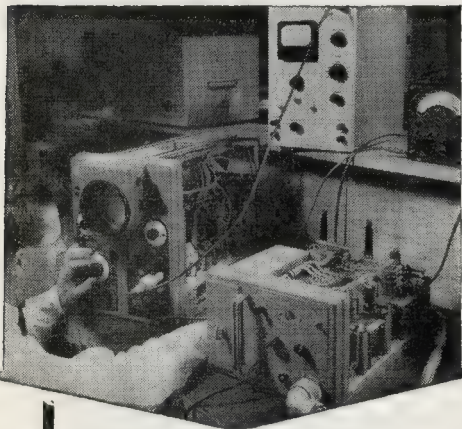

Prof. Clarke, who graduated from the college in 1937, has done graduate work at Columbia and McGill Universities. In addition to his duties as registrar, he has taught courses in English and Fine Arts and has gained a wide reputation in these fields as a teacher. He has also been active in the Canadian Association of University Registrars and the American Association of Collegiate Registrars.

Mr. Rae is a graduate of Trinity College and the School of Social Work of the University of Toronto. He served overseas with the Canadian Army during the Second World War as intelligence officer with the Queen's Own Rifles of Canada. He served recently as an officer of the National Council of YMCA's of Canada as secretary of the adult program department. He has also been active in the Canadian Association for Adult Education.

Professor Peets has been on the staff of the college for 10 years and is now associate professor of biology. A graduate of McGill University, he

GEORGIAN OLYMPIANS

Gracing our cover are two Georgian athletes who will be representing Canada in the Olympic Games at Melbourne, Australia.

Diane Matheson, who is in 2nd year Arts, will be running in the 109 metre, 200 metre, and in the 400 metre relay events. Diane is a petite flash of lightning from Moncton, N.B., who ran with the Mt. Royal Athletic Club colours.

At Sir George Diane plays badminton and basketball.

Running at the Canadian Olympic trials held this summer in Hamilton Diane was clocked at 12.0 seconds in the 100 metres, 24.7 seconds in the 200 metres. But she has run the 100 metres in 11.9 seconds and hopes to better this time by temporarily taking up quarters in Toronto to be coached by the famous Fred Foot.

Les Melia, well-known participant in Georgian activities, three-time winner of the Dan Janna Trophy as outstanding competitor in the Winter Carnival, is Canada's primary choice for the 1000-metre kayak tandem race and is the alternate in the 10,000 metre kayak single. Les states that there is a possibility of his being entered in the 10,000 metre kayak tandem.

Les, in his final year at Sir George, noted that because of the wide variety of climactic conditions there is no Olympic record time to aim for. Says Les, "We will probably be trying to take some of the events away from the Scandinavian countries who have been dominant ever since canoeing was introduced in the Olympic games."

Les has been canoeing for 9 years, split almost evenly between the Grand Trunk Boating

IDEAS AND OPINIONS

Editorial—I

Paradise Regained

I think it would be virtually impossible, seated here at the typewriter, spasmodically rapping keys on to paper bearing the heading "Sir George Williams Post Grad", for me not to imagine myself back in the Georgian staff room performing a similar task surrounded by such loyal four cluttered walls and loyal Third Estaters as Bob Hayes, Johnny Steve Montague, Gunter Brinkschulte, Herb Shannon et al. And so I recall those days — incidents returning with each spasmodic rap — with a deep felt thankfulness for the sheer happiness that accompanied them and for the friends who shared them with me.

I am sincerely grateful for the opportunity to serve once again in a capacity so close to my heart — and fingers.

Since my graduation in '53, I have inexcusably neglected the College and things Georgian. Despite an ardent desire, experienced in my Senior year, to contribute my share in the Alumni Association — an overt means of expressing one's gratitude for all the invaluable experience gleaned from half a decade spent at this continent's most fraternal of educational institutions — despite this, my efforts have hitherto been nil. True, as a high school teacher I have been instrumental in suggesting to Grade Eleven students that they investigate Sir George before committing themselves to That Other Place; true, I have worn in class a blazer bearing our Crest and said to the devil with the chalk stains. But with it all I knew I was a slacker. Then, along came Joe Colucci and Bob Hayes . . . and here I am.

I wish to express my appreciation to Joe who, prior to leaving Montreal, compiled the current issue merely bequeathing to me the enjoyable job of filling this page. I write for us all when I send him our thanks for so commendably filling the position of Editor and bid him adieu and Bonne Chance in his forthcoming undertaking.

With an apology for this highly personalized editorial, I leave you with the first issue of the '57 - '57 Postgrad—T.J.P.

Editorial—II

It has been a long time since a new executive took charge of the Association's affairs. It is to the credit of the outgoing members that their interest in alumni activities persisted in the face of what must have seemed interminable indifference. Their persistence has now been crowned with relative success. The affairs of the Association are now being better attended. There is talk, and more than talk, of reinstituting alumni seminars; the Association's gift of a special reading aid to augment Mr. Sproule's activities is the result — the first — of the hearty response to the Association's ten dollar assessment.

Along with the popular movie nights so ably organized by Gerry Miller several 'recognition' gatherings were very well attended. And both Gerry and the other members of the outgoing Executive are to be congratulated.

The Postgrad congratulates the newly-elected members of the Executive and wishes them a hearty grapple with the problems which face them. These problems include the dust-relegated constitution, which is being revived by a committee selected by the outgoing Executive, and the constant problem of maintaining relations with an ever growing but increasingly anonymous graduating body.

To Gord McFarlane, the new President, best wishes and happy presiding !

The President,
Association of Alumni
Dear Mr. President:

Please find enclosed a cheque for $10.00 for due. I would be pleased to hear from you if the Association would have a copy of its constitution and its by-laws. I feel every paid-up of the alumni is entitled to this.

I would like to express my appreciation to all those who help in any way to publish The Postgrad. It certainly is a credit to their efforts and a wonderful contact with S.G.W.C. for those of us who are so far away from Montreal. I often wish I could join in the Association's activities.

If there are any graduate (of my vintage—'41) in the surrounding district—Galt, Preston, Elmira, Stratford, Waterloo—I would like to have their names, and I would try to arrange a get-together.

Wishing you and your executives every success in the future I remain,

Yours very truly,

Mrs. Frances (Miedema) J. Piercey

(Editor's Comment: This letter probably expresses the feelings of many other alumni regarding the constitution. The Executive has been aware of this deficiency in the Association's make-up and asked Dave Zacharin to investigate the contents and frame-work of a suitable constitution. At the last Executive meeting he was empowered to head a committee of graduates which would submit a rough draft of a constitution for consideration by the Executive and eventually by the entire Association of Alumni.)

When interviewed, Joe Miller was hobbling around on a plaster-covered foot (the result of skiing at Lake Placid) but his direction of the consolidating operations at "Wolfie's" was nevertheless firm and the goal to success is assured.

"Shell Out For UNICEF"

By HAZEL BROWN CHANDLER, (B.A. '44)

Most people know that tuberculosis is "the quiet killer", but did you realize that tuberculosis has marked for early doom one person in every 140 in India alone?

Most people know that malaria is carried by a mosquito, but did you know that approximately 300,000,000 people will be incapacitated by malaria this year?

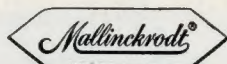

And, in this world of 900,000,000 children, did you realize that two-thirds of them — 600,000,000 children — will go to bed to-night sick and hungry?

It was the needs of millions of hungry and destitute children in post-war Europe that resulted in the formation of UNICEF in 1946 — the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund. Eventually, as it gradually undertook long-range projects of benefit to children, it became a permanent United Nations activity. Its name then became the United Nations Children's Fund, but the original symbol of UNICEF was retained. The Canadian UNICEF Committee was subsequently organized to provide Canadians with an opportunity to participate in the humanitarian work of the United Nations Children's Fund. To-day UNICEF has become the world's largest international agency devoted exclusively to the welfare of children.

UNICEF aid is mainly in the form of supplies not available within the assisted countries; basic medical equipment for rural health centres and training schools; insecticides, vaccines and anti-biotics to initiate campaigns against disease; powdered milk to combat malnutrition, and equipment to improve local dairy industries. UNICEF'S aid is completely outside the realm of politics; it is given without regard to race, nationality, creed or political belief. It depends entirely upon voluntary contributions from governments and individuals to expand its aid to more than 94 countries and territories.

"Shell out for UNICEF" is a project, originated in the United States, which extends the benefits of Hallowe'en to boys and girls in less fortunate countries. Everyone in Canada is being invited this year to join in the fun of this new style Hallowe'en-with-a-heart. "Shell out for UNICEF" projects can be organized by individual parents, teachers, church groups, civic or service organizations, and the educational value of the project is just as important as the fund-raising aspect. The plan is intended to help not only children, but also young people and adults, to learn more about the United Nations Children's fund, and aid in its work, while enjoying their usual Hallowe'en fun.

This Hallowwe'en when happy Canadian children shout "Shell out for UNICEF", they will be collecting pennies, nickles and dimes "for all the world's children". One Canadian cent collected for UNICEF will buy a glass of milk every day for a week for a child in Korea; two Canadian cents collected will vaccinate three children against tuberculosis; and five Canadian cents collected will mean a bowl of rice apiece for ten starving children in Asia.

Attractive educational literature and publicity materials may be obtained, in the Province of Quebec, by communicating with:

Mrs. D. W. Heywood, 5508 Randall Ave., Montreal 29, or, for other Provinces, by writing to:

Miss Mary P. Carter, Canadian UNICEF Committee, 113 St. George Street, Toronto 5, Ont.

At Hallowe'en time last year, over $15,000 was collected in Canada for UNICEF. Let us all endeavour to take an active part in a "Shell out for UNICEF" project this year. Let us endeavour to exceed last year's results so that more children "all over the world" will share in the joys to be derived from a "Shell out for UNICEF".

Student Separation By Abilities

A trend toward separation of students into "ability groups" and improved quality of teaching was predicted by Dr. H. H. Saunderson, president of the University of Manitoba.

A program designed for slightly below-average students wasted time and gave above-average students no opportunity to develop as they should, he told the convention of the Canadian Education Association.

Dr. Saunderson said development of large school units, with three or four rooms for each grade, will contribute to "desirable" features in education.

He also said he believed there will be a return to the system of competitive marks and grades, now opposed by some educationists who suggested the system has adverse effects on the personality of students.

Separation of curricula into types for different groups "is necessary if we are to challenge the better students without discouraging others," he added. Changes in the next 10 years will bring more "special curricula for special groups."

Dr. Saunderson said that in larger school units it will be possible to use the teaching staff in the areas of their "special qualifications and interests."

He also forecast a continuation of the large flow of average students and smaller numbers of bright and dull students. There is likely to be fairly extensive revision of secondary school curricula for students of below-average ability with stress on practical subjects.
